

MISSION 31

Protecting Virgin Forests

Europe was once a continent of trees. Today, less than 1% of its ancient forests remain, many of them hidden in the mountains of Romania.

But they're under attack.

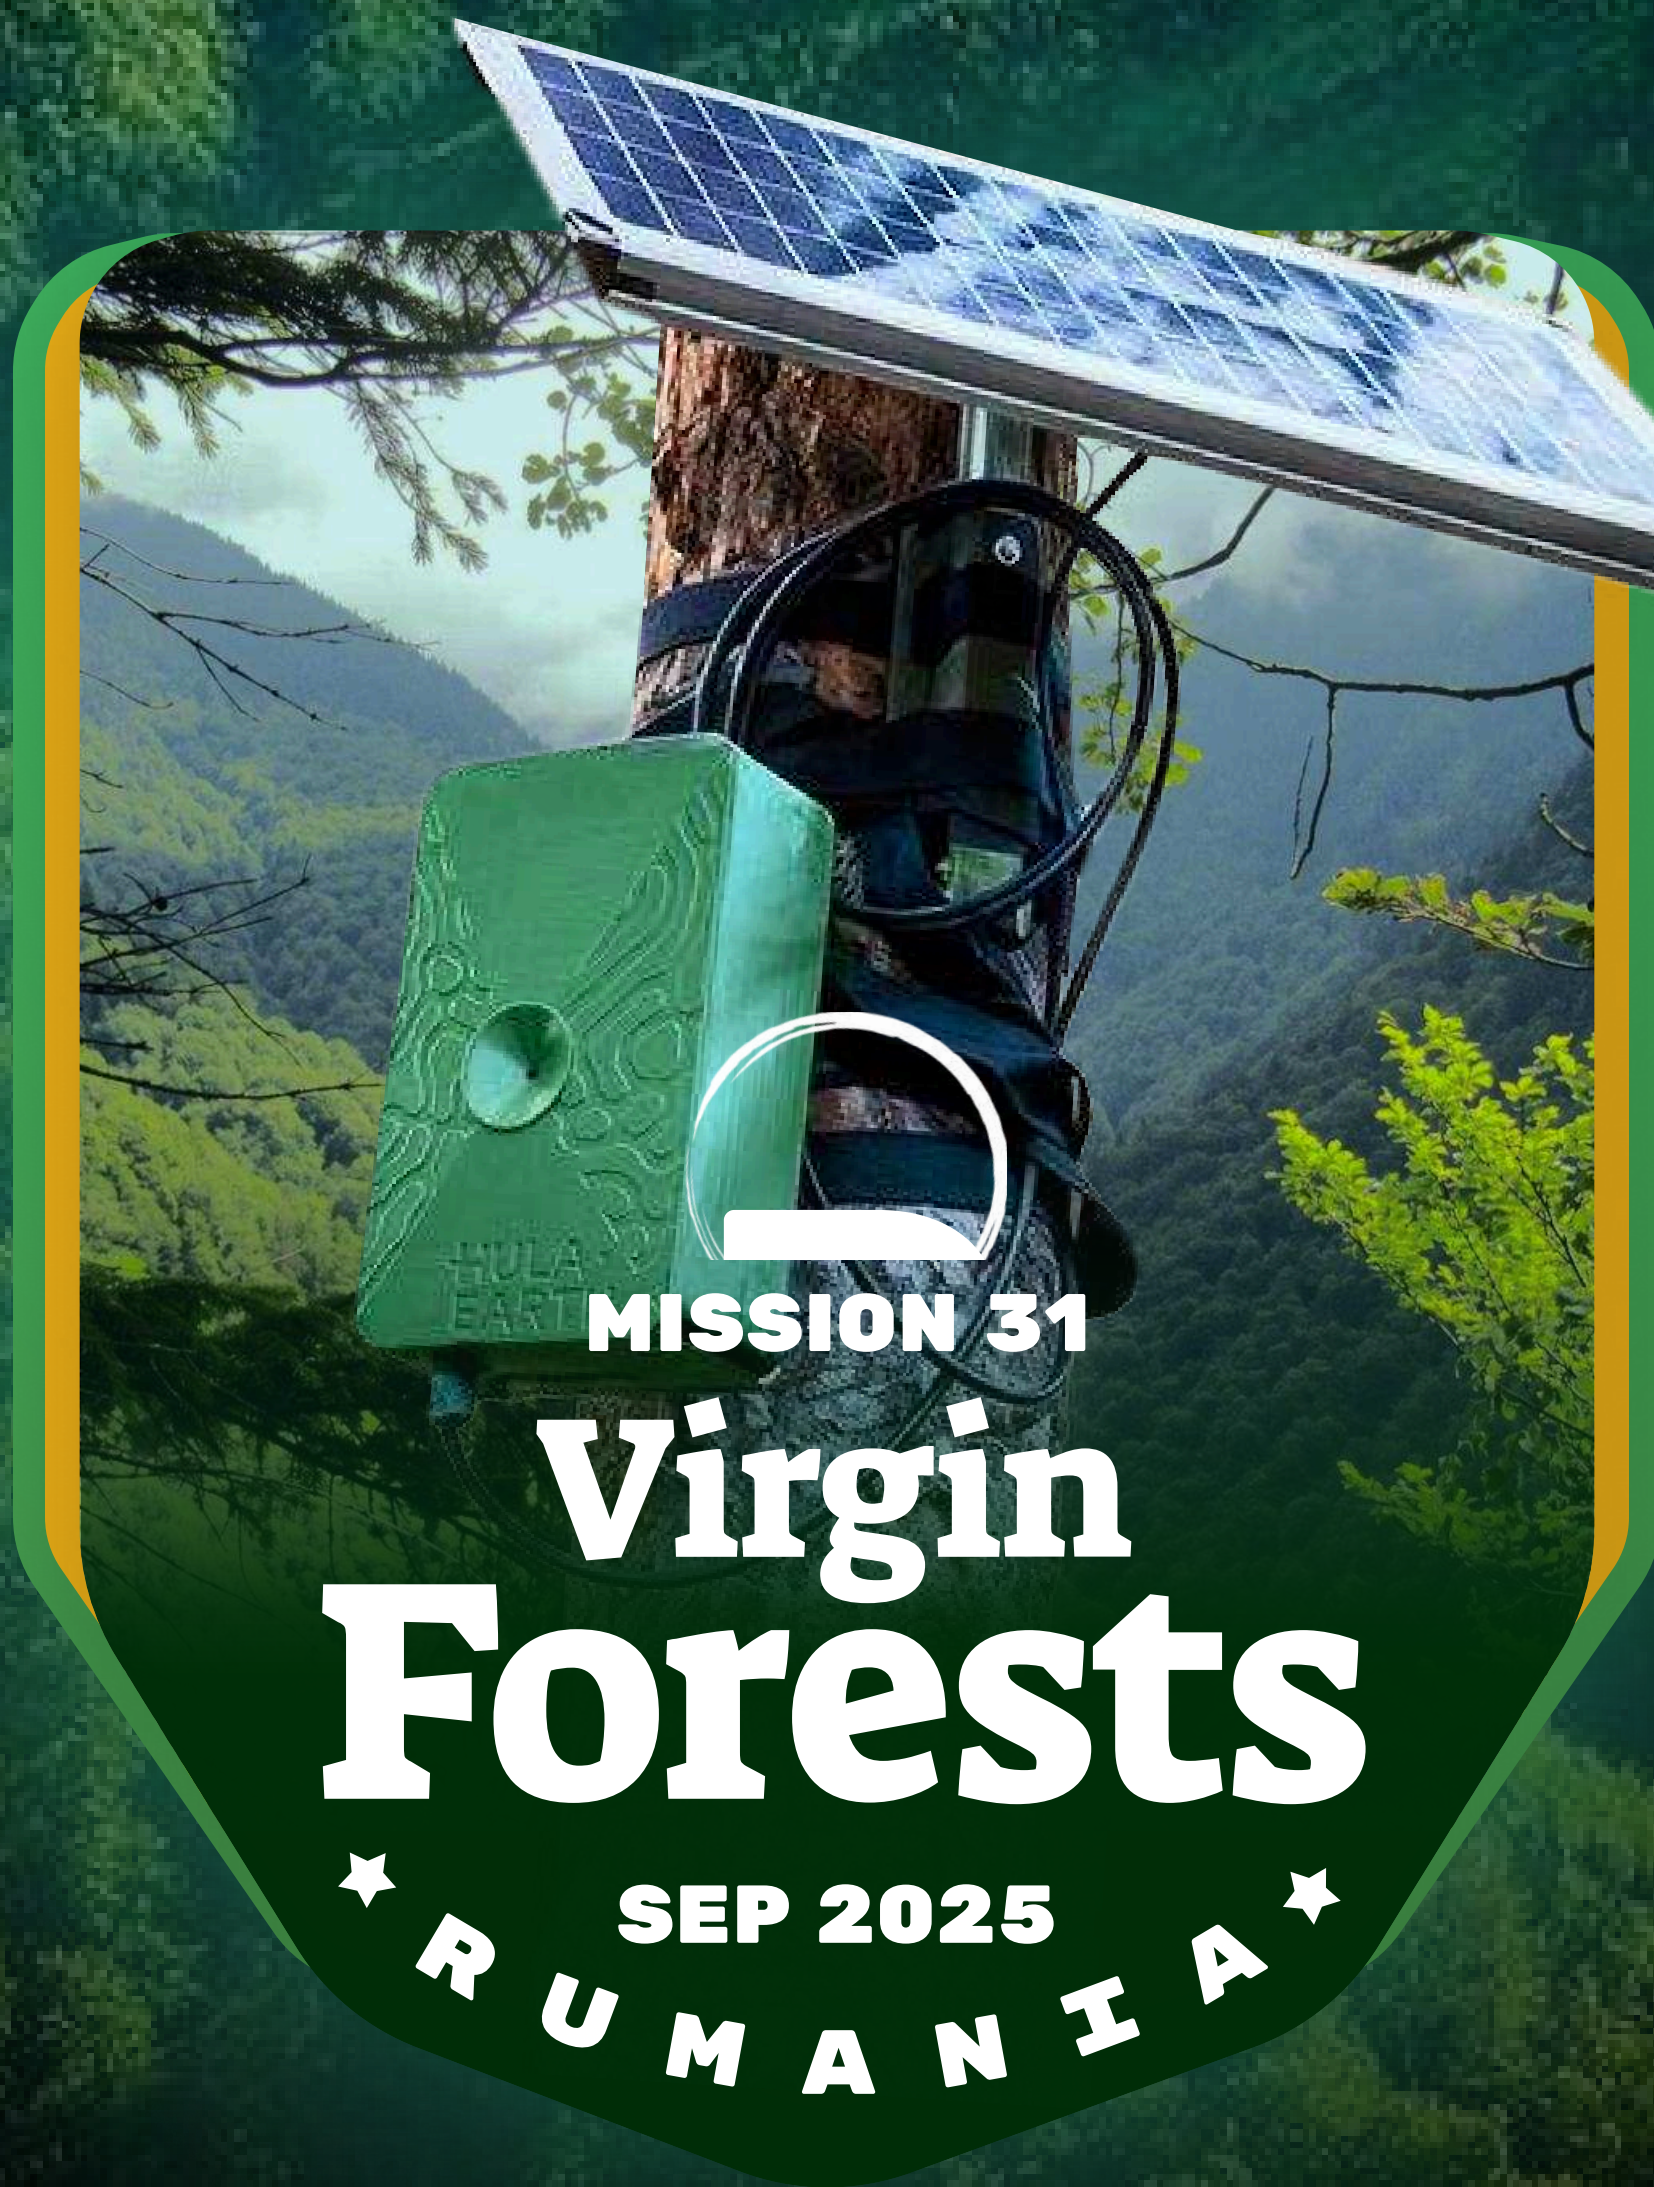

Corruption, illegal clear-cutting, and timber mafias are hacking away at the remaining forests.

Gabriel Paun has risked his life many times to expose what's happening to these forests and save what's left of Europe's last wilderness.

With this new tech and a year of ranger patrols, we're protecting 300 hectares of untouched forest.
